Consider a military spouse for your next federal agency position. Military spouses are impassioned problem solvers who consistently demonstrate that they are flexible, highly experienced, and ever ready to meet your next challenge. Plus, in FY 2010, DoD will reimburse first-year salary costs for a limited number of military spouses if they are selected into a permanent position with promotion potential. Act now to make your next hire a great hire. For more information, go to www.cpms.osd.mil/milspouse.
